DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This large, handsome two story frame house faces south, in the direction of Big Woods Road, which passes close by in front of it. It is one of the largest houses of the historical community of Big Woods to have survived.

Like the home of Henry T. Onley and James Lee in the Big Woods community, this one has a length of three bays and a depth of one bay. The facade is arranged in the usual symmetrical form, with a door located in the center, flanked on either side by a window. The windows contain large 2 x 2 panes that were popular to the turn of the 20th century. The frame is sheathed with weatherboards, painted white. Along the facade is a long shed porch. Inside each gable end is a brick stove flue. The roof is covered with tin, and the roof line is accented by a cross gable pediment. The cornices are boxed with plain boards, and have short returns at each gable end. To the back length of the house is attached a two story T. On the east side of the house is the opening into the cellar.

Behind the house, some of the old outbuildings remain.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

In 1899, John T. Onley and his wife Florence Onley, purchased this property of 6 2/5 acres from Elias and Mary F. Price (deed, TD 12/224). The house was probably built soon thereafter since its construction and design are of that period. It resembles the other homes built by the second generation of the descendants of the post-Civil War founders of Big Woods community, though it is somewhat larger and more imposing, especially since it has been well maintained.

According to Florence Hallman of the Big Woods community, John T. Onley was the son of William Onley and Mary Hills Onley. Since William Onley was the half-brother of Henry T. Onley, Florence's father, William Thomas Onley and John T. Onley were half first cousins. Such relationships represent the existence of extended family networks in the community.

Permission to photograph this house in black and white was not available. (See slides)
